

1732--THIS DAY GAVE US GEORGE WASHINGTON--1895

COULD HE BUT SEE
HOW WE HAVE GROWN

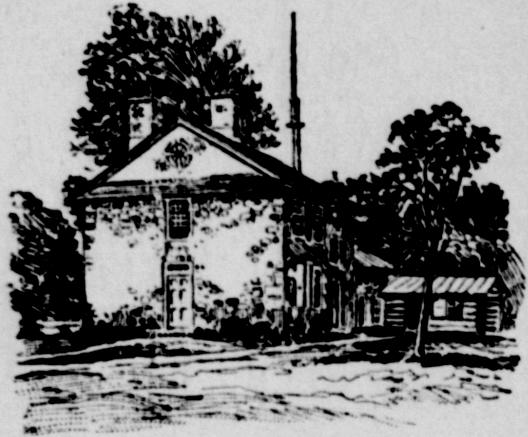

PROPHETIC VISION THAT WASHINGTON MIGHT HAVE HAD.

Little Did He Dream that the Federation for Which He Fought Was to Grow From An Insignificant Power In the Wilderness to One of the Most Powerful Nations on Earth.

Suppose George Washington had dreamed of the future greatness of the popular empire he was so instrumental in founding.

Suppose that when his heart was most cast down, when he and his little army of ragged continentals were freezing and starving through the short days and long nights of the winter at Valley Forge, he had lain down to sleep and been privileged to behold a prophetic vision. It would have been one of the most wonderful dreams that have ever visited mortal man. It would have given him new life, new heart, new strength. Not many of those who will peruse these lines have the slightest idea of the marvels that would have been unfolded to the Father of His Country in that vision even though they daily behold them.

All Americans know abstractly the progress of the republic has been unexampled in the history of the world and the race, but few have any comprehension of the glorious facts, which are really so notable that he who can contemplate them without an accession of patriotic feeling is a poor coot, a creature in whose veins there circulates a fluid more like rainwater than the strong and virile blood of healthy manhood.

When Washington was at Valley Forge, the people for whom he was fighting the battles that should weld the colonies into one of the chief nations of the earth occupied, and but sparsely, only a narrow strip of territory along the Atlantic coast. It was but partially subdued. There were no roads worth speaking of, nearly all manufactured products had to be brought from abroad, the institutions of learning were feeble and widely scattered, of culture there was great lack, and the beginnings of art and literature on this side of the Atlantic were yet to be made.

Now—now the United States is one of the dominant powers of the whole earth, and if there is serious lack in any direction of human progress whatever it is only because not quite time enough has yet elapsed since the first blow for American independence was struck. In all considerations of the growth and evolution of this land and nation it should be remembered that the nation is not yet quite 118 years old and that at its birth more than nine-tenths of its territory was a wilderness absolutely untouched by the white man.

George Washington's dream at Valley Forge would have been of a nation of 70,000,000 souls, or more than 20 times as great as the population then, for in 1780 there were, according to the first federal census, but 3,070,000 inhabitants here. He would have been vastly amazed no doubt by the fact that in less than 120 years the residents of the United States were to bear the numerical proportion of 7 to 4 when compared with the population of the British Isles. He would have marveled at the wonderful urban growth of the nation he was founding, and the fact that beside a round half dozen of the cities that were to be in the United States the London of that day was a small town would have seemed incredible.

He could not but have been amazed by the territorial growth of the country as revealed in his dream, for among other things he would have seen that all France could be put down within the area of the largest state of the Union of the future and leave sufficient vacant space from which to lay out a country as large as Turkey in Europe. Yet the figures of such a dream would have been more than true, for the area of Texas is 265,780 square miles, that of France 204,092 and that of Turkey in Europe but 61,200, so that even after taking France and Turkey from the Lone Star State's territory a strip of land 10 miles wide and 48 4-5 miles long would be left over.

Possibly that would have been the most startling of all the features of the dream to him, for France occupied no doubt a very prominent place in all his thoughts by reason of its friendly attitude to the new power this side the sea, but it would have been really of less import than the fact that the distance from the as yet unfounded capital of the new republic to the most remote state thereof was nearly a third as much again as the distance between London and St. Petersburg. And yet that again is true, and the traveler who should journey as far eastward from Paris—then, as now, the capital of France—as from Washington, the capital of the United States, to Tacoma, would pass through Rome, once the capital of the greatest empire of paganism, to Constantinople, the ancient capital of the Byzantine empire, on through Turkey, in Europe, into Persia and to Teheran, its capital, and still more startling comparisons of distances might be made if Alaska, the unorganized arctic possessions of the republic, were to be taken into consideration.

Washington's dream would have shown him, moreover, that in the years to come his country was to lead all others in the production of wheat; of silver; of all but one, the then undiscovered giant island, Australia, in the output of gold; was to be second to Great Britain only in the mining of coal, was to be exceeded in foreign commerce only by Great Britain and Germany, and was to possess a larger internal commerce and better facilities for internal communication than any other nation in the world. He would have seen, too, that his country was to be uniformly successful in whatever wars it became involved in with foreign powers, and that it was to be wrenched and torn by the most stupendous civil strife the world has ever beheld; that, principally owing to its existence and development, a new problem in the affairs of government—the labor question—was to arise, and that the differences between kings and potentates were sometimes insignificant by the side of the contests between employers and employees.

In place of the few schools, the scattered writers, who treated almost exclusively of politics, and the almost non-existent artist classes, he would have beheld vast universities equal in most respects to the most venerable old world institutions of learning and excelling them in some regards, a literary class larger in proportion to population than anywhere else on earth, especially if those in active journalism be included, and a great, enthusiastic and successful following of every so called artistic calling in the world.

Many things would have puzzled him immensely, no doubt. The problems of today, from their very magnitude, if from no other cause, would probably have seemed quite as difficult as those which confronted him at Valley Forge, perhaps more so. There would have been many apparent crudities. The telegraph, the railroad, the telephone, the phonograph, the trolley car, the new woman, the municipal boss, the mop headed football player, the pretty typewriter, the bicyclist of both sexes—all these would have amazed him not less perhaps than the polyglot speech of the vast population and the vastly different costumes and customs of the people.

I. D. MARSHALL.

WASHINGTON CHRONOLOGY.

Born in Westmoreland county, Va., Feb. 22 (old style Feb. 11), 1732.

Made commander of the northern military district of Virginia by Lieutenant Governor Dinwiddie when but 19 years of age, in 1751.

Sent to warn the French away from their new forts in western Pennsylvania at the outbreak of the French and Indian war in 1753.

Made commander in chief of all the Virginia forces in 1755.

Commanded the advance guard of the expedition that captured Fort Duquesne in 1758, shortly after which he married Mrs. Custis.

Wrote concerning the "nonimportation resolution," which had just reached him, advising opposition to the policy of the ministry April 5, 1769.

Appointed as one of seven delegates by the Virginia convention to the continental congress in 1774. His national career may be said to have begun with this.

HOUSE IN WHICH THE FAREWELL WAS WRITTEN. He had previously served as a member of the state legislature for several terms.

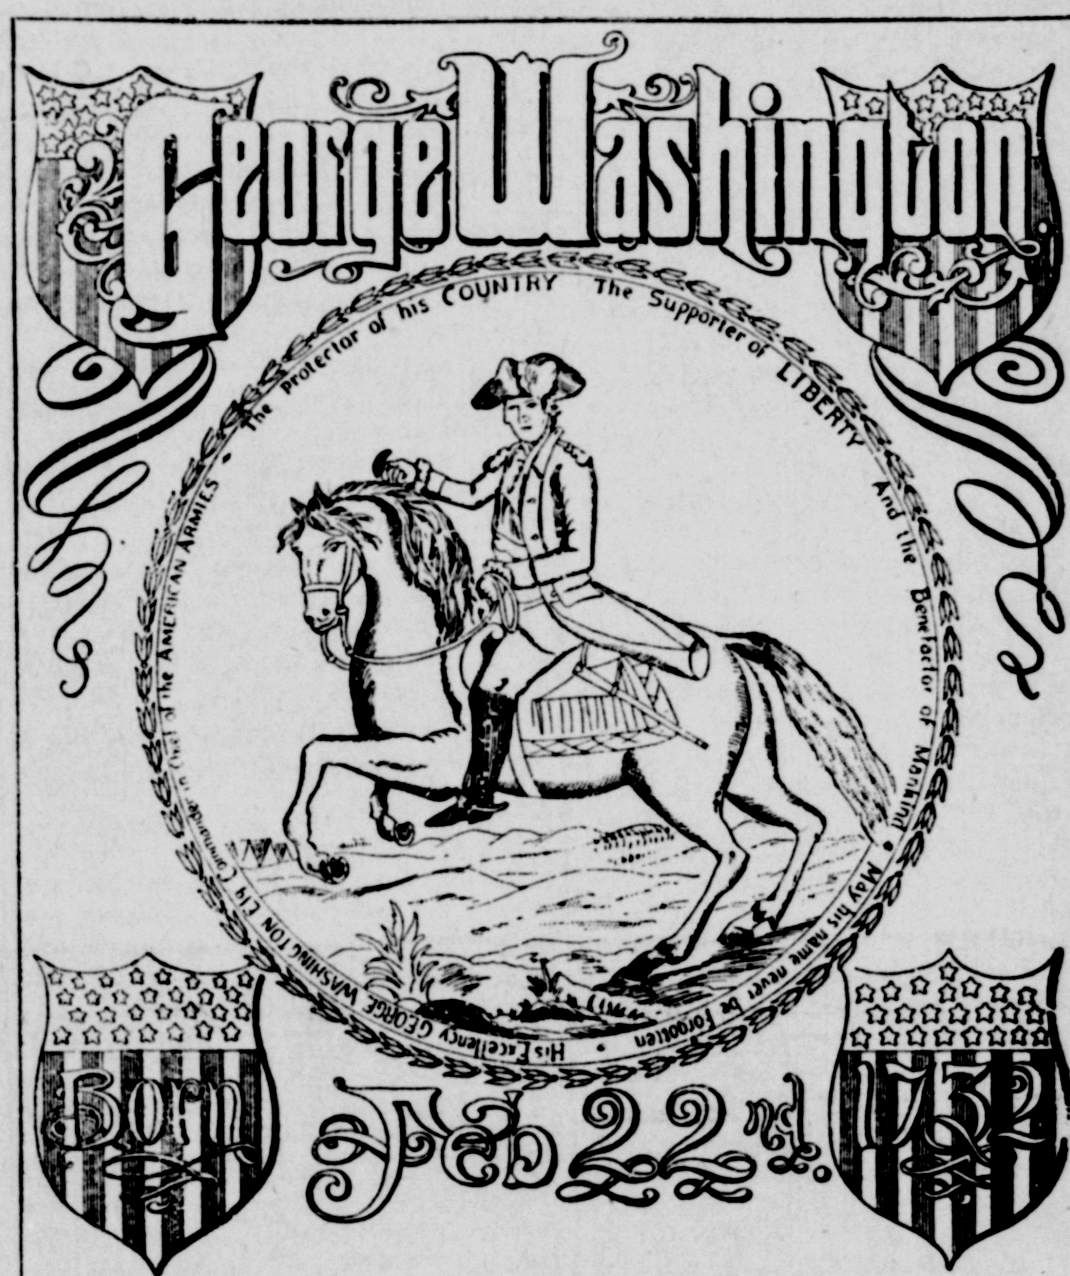

Commissioned commander in chief of the continental troops June 15, 1775, after the fight at Lexington and Concord. Reached Cambridge July 2, after the battle of Bunker Hill, which occurred June 17.

Jan. 2, 1776, Washington hoisted the Union flag, consisting of seven stripes, like in the flag of today, but with the crosses of St. George and St. Andrew in the field of blue in the corner.

After nearly a year of the most trying sort drove the British out of Boston, March 17, 1776. After this Washington went to New York, signed the Declaration of Independence, which was adopted July 4, and had the document read to his soldiers July 9, 1776.

Battle of Long Island Aug. 28. Evacuation of New York by Washington. Crossed to New Jersey, was pursued across the state into Pennsylvania, recrossed the Delaware Christmas night, captured Trenton and 1,000 Hessian soldiers. Battle of Princeton, Washington victorious, Jan. 3, after which his headquarters were established at Morristown, N. J.

After various maneuvers, lasting through the spring and summer, and accepting the proffered aid of DeKalb,

THE FIRST ENGRAVING OF WASHINGTON.

Here is a reproduction, without color, of the first engraving ever made of George Washington. The only print known to be in existence at this time is in possession of Charles F. Gunther of Chicago, whose collection of relics of the Father of His Country ranks very high indeed. The original print is all in black, except for the blanket on the horse, which is colored red and yellow, and the rider's coat, which is blue, with yellow epaulets, and a red sash across the breast.

Kosciusko, Pulaski, Steuben and Lafayette, Washington engaged Howe at Brandywine Creek, Sept. 11, 1777. Attacked British troops in Germantown Oct. 4, but was driven back, after which headquarters were established in Valley Forge.

Suffered great hardships with his men all that winter, was plotted against, but not abased, by his rivals for the place of commander in chief, fought the battle of Monmouth early June 28, 1778, and after a summer and autumn devoid of any great battles in which Washington took part went into winter quarters near Middlebrook, N. J.

Seventeen hundred and seventy-nine was marked by no special battles in which Washington was commander, and the same was true of 1780, but it was his firmness and everlasting watchfulness that forced inaction on the part of the British. The capture and execution of Andre and the flight of Arnold, the traitor, occurred in 1780, and both years there were notable successes on the part of the continental troops in the south and elsewhere.

Surrender of Yorktown and Gloucester, Va., by General Cornwallis to Washington, Oct. 19, 1781.

British evacuated New York Nov. 25, 1783. Washington as commander in chief bade farewell to his officers Dec. 4, and resigned his commission as commander in chief to congress Dec. 28, after which he returned to his home at Mount Vernon.

Sent by Virginia to the constitutional convention held in Philadelphia in May, 1787.

Elected first president of the United States by the unanimous vote of the electors in 1789. He was formally inaugurated in New York April 30, 1789. He was re-elected in 1792 and retired from the presidency in 1797.

Made commander in chief of the provincial army, raised in expectation of a war with France, in 1798.

Died, after a brief illness, Dec. 14, 1799.

Washington Sometimes Despondent.

It is the fashion to speak of all who have succeeded in writing their names high on history's page as though they never gave way to the temptation to be despondent. Yet if the facts could only be known it is the very men who have within themselves the ability to finally win the victory that are apt at times to become most deeply involved in the sloughs of despond. Washington himself was subject to periods of the most intense depression, as witness this passage from a letter to a friend, written at Valley Forge:

"The history of the war is a history of false hopes and temporary expedients. Would to God they were to end here."

In another letter he said after a most gloomy recital of the reasons he had for being low spirited:

"To me it will appear miraculous if our affairs can maintain themselves much longer in their present train."

But Washington possessed the power of recovering from these fits of the blues and of putting forth every effort, after they were over, as if they had never fallen to his lot, and therein lay the true secret of his final triumph and his imperishable glory.

Crushed Again.

We celebrate today with glee Great George's birth. Although he could not tell a lie, Yet most men can do. That's why Ere set of sun we'll surely see Truth crushed to earth.

comes again, I must suffer him to make distress."

Just when his personal affairs were at the lowest ebb he was again called by his country, but not to war. This time his services were needed at the constitutional convention, and the results of that gathering are well known. The constitution was adopted, Washington was made president, and the life of the federal government was begun.

Didn't Admire Washington's Taste.

Billy (who has been taken by his mother to see a woman 104 years old)—Ma says George Washington kissed old Mrs. Centuria when she was a baby.

Bobby—I always did think he was a fool ever since I heard about the hatchet and the cherry tree, and now I know it!

WASHINGTON.

O fatherland, so great and free!
The prize that valiant heroes won,
The joyful harp we tune to thee
Commemorates thy noblest son.
To him we give our thoughts today,
A thankful, childish, patriot band;
We twine the laurel and the bay
And crown him father of our land.

Oh, not like proud Ambition's son
That soared to fame in ancient Rome,
Not like the Mars who battles won
And found Helena for a home.
No chains were forged thy name to raise
Above the legal lords of earth.
No groaning captives sang thy praise
Or flattered crimes to deeds of worth.

Sleep on in peace, O hallowed shade!
Sleep on, the father of the free!
The trees that guard the southern glade,
Their tender sobs are all for thee!
The oak that decks our northern vale
And boldly braves the drifting snows
Through summer calm or winter hail
Shall teach defiance to thy foes.
—M. V. Gormley.

"IN LIGHTER VEIN."

When Washington Felt Like It, He Could Unbend Like Other Folks.

Notwithstanding that it is now generally conceded that Washington was thoroughly human and not at all a man who had his emotions and passions under perfect control, as his earlier biographers would have it, he was not often wont to unbend himself in the presence of any one not of his immediate family. Once, however, when he dined with Chief Justice Ellsworth of Connecticut at the latter's residence in Windsor, he relaxed completely.

During his stay in the house he was taken into the nursery and introduced to the chief justice's twin boys, who were later to be known as Governor Ellsworth

WASHINGTON SINGING "THE DERBY RAM," and Hon. Henry L. Ellsworth. These boys were taken up by the great man and each placed upon a knee. Then the personage sang to them this version of

"THE DERBY RAM."

As I was going to Derby
Upon a market day
I spied the biggest ram, sir,
That ever was fed on hay.
Tow de row de row,
Tow de row de da!

He had four feet to walk, sir;
He had four feet to stand,
And every foot he had, sir,
Covered an acre of land.

The wool upon his back, sir,
It reached unto the sky,
And eagles built their nests there,
For I heard their young ones cry.

The wool upon his tail, sir,
It reached unto the sky,
Made three thousand yards of cloth, sir,
For he wove it all in a day.

There seems to be no sort of doubt about the authenticity of this anecdote, as it has been handed down in the Ellsworth family from generation to generation to the present representatives thereof.

Effie (at her lessons)—I think history's much nicer than arithmetic, auntie.

Auntie—Why, dear?

Effie—Because you don't have to prove your answers.—Fall Mall Budget.

HAD MANY VIRTUES
AND FEW FAULTS

THE IMMORTAL WASHINGTON WAS BUT HUMAN.

The Tendency of All Modern Historical Investigation Is Not to Lift Men Upon Cold and Snowy Pinnacles—His Strong Will, His Energy and His Perseverance.

The tendency which promoted great leaders to the honors of the godhead did not altogether cease with the mythmaking period. Carlyle emphasizes hero worship as the salt which saves poor human nature from dry rot. In other words, it upholds concrete ideals as object lessons to fire the imagination, singing the chant:

On one clear harp of many tones
That men may rise on stepping stones
Of their dead selves to higher things.

It is more than an open question whether this instinct is not easily carried to excess violating its own purpose. The idealization of the hero, if it petrifies its object and lifts him above the blood warmth of the human atmosphere, makes the pattern man less virile and vital. Such until a recent period was the tone of historic discussion dealing with George Washington. Chief Justice Marshall, then Jared Sparks, then Washington Irving, who wrote the standard lives of our pater patriae, followed this method of conception and planted a marble colossus high up on a pedestal in the freezing cold. It was an impeccable deity, before which humanity should bow down and burn perpetual incense, half stifling itself in the fumes.

The more recent tendencies of historic study, what we may term the realistic school, take Washington down from his arctic perch, and without lessening his genuine greatness make him vastly more lovable. He is presented to us in flesh and blood and not in stone. We find that he was a man of very human faults as well as of virtues; that he could give way to fits of fiery wrath and could swear terribly in such moods; that he was very sensitive alike to applause and criticism; that he was often harsh, even harsh, in his judgments, and that he loved dearly to have his own way and could enforce it with an imperious will.

Washington's lack of schooling was quite as complete as that of Abraham Lincoln. He never knew much about that magic wand, the pedagogic's birch. His learning was the fruit of attrition, contact with men and affairs, and he was plunged into a very whirlpool of it when scarcely more than a lad. He was only 23 when he saved the beaten remnant of Braddock's forces, and this was by no means his first trust of importance. With the bluest blood of the colonies running in his veins, he was naturally an aristocrat in the conventional as well as the nobler sense of the word. Noblesse oblige, to live up to the finest there was in him, was a law of life as natural as breathing. Probably none but an aristocrat, one forced by social position from mere boyhood into a great number of public responsibilities, would have had the chance to have so proved his sterling value. This stamp on the coin made him by general choice the picked man of men to lead the Americans in the field when the thundercloud of the Revolution burst. All the traditions of his family and training molded him into a conservative. By instinct and preference he was a royalist. But when he reluctantly felt himself lifted on the tide of public sentiment, swelling through all the colonies, he gave himself heart and soul to the work. It may be too nice a point of speculation, but one is tempted to believe that had Washington been one whit more of the demagogue, one whit less of the aristocrat, he would have failed to have welded that permanent adherence of men of blood, family and social prestige to the Revolutionary cause on which success so much depended.

Judged by all the laws of military probability the American Revolution should have been a failure. It was a house divided against itself. There were almost as many Tories as patriots. The enemy was the greatest power then existing by land and sea. Among the chief causes which finally assured the triumph of the colonies, the personal factor, the leadership of George Washington, was not the least important. As a military genius he does not rank among the first 10, scarcely perhaps among the world's second 20 great soldiers. Yet critics of the art of war, if they find few magnificent coups, can scarcely point to a mistake in his military plans. In the talents of the statesmen he was not great—scarcely even commonplace as orator and writer. He was essentially the man of affairs, not the man of words. It was his profound and imperturbable sagacity, a lighthouse shining serenely above the beat and roar of the waves, that made him a master of men. It was common sense raised to its superlative and become genius. Temperament and character entered into it equally with mind. The final product was one of those personalities so symmetrical and balanced as to stand isolated among the world's leaders. Perhaps nowhere else in history do we find a great man with whom the absolute touchstone of right and wrong was the golden test, one in whom the perception of right and wrong was so luminous and direct.

FARMERS MUST PAY THEIR INCOME TAX

CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERIES COME UNDER THE LAW.

How the Returns Are to Be Made Is Rather Difficult to See As The Tax Will Virtually Be On the Labor Only—News From the Other County Towns.

Rock county farmers are much interested just at present, to know how the income tax law is going to effect the co-operative creameries. The decision of the collector of internal revenue in Iowa is that a co-operative creamery is subject to the provisions of the income tax law. Officers find it almost impossible to make the required reports. The milk is gathered from house to house among the members, taken to the factory, made into butter. There is no market value of the milk at the farms except that made by its sale as butter after it leaves the creamery; so that any value placed on the milk less than the price of the butter, less the cost of making, for the purpose of showing a profit for taxation, would be a tax on labor. This is the view the creamery managers take, and it is difficult to see where there will be any returns from the source.

SIXTY FULTONITES SIGN PLEDGES

Temperance Work of S. R. Titus and Rev. Rowell Is Telling.

FULTON, Feb. 22.—The temperance meetings that are being held this week in the church have been very well attended, and a good work is being done by S. R. Titus, of Beloit, assisted by Rev. Mr. Rowell. Over sixty signed the pledge last Tuesday evening among them being a number of young men. The meetings will be continued all this week, and will close next Sunday evening with a grand temperance rally. The singing has been very pleasing each night. Theodore Raymond is assisting the choir, and his voice is welcomed by all, after an absence of many months. Everybody is invited to come out Saturday and Sunday nights and let a grand good work be done. Mr. Reid is very sick. J. C. Brown is in poor health. Dr. McManus is in attendance. Mrs. E. Brown is under Dr. J. Lord's care, and her many friends hope to see her improve rapidly. Miss Eva Pearson was home from Milton over Sunday. Miss Jennie Lynta came down from Madison to spend Sunday with her grandmother, Mrs. Stone. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jessup came up from Janesville and spent the day with Edward Jessup and family. Mort Carrier is home from Albany, Green county, waiting weather suitable for work in tobacco. Maude Fessenden is improving under Dr. McChesney's care. Mrs. George Van Etta and Mrs. G. Dodge came up from Janesville and passed the day with C. Dodge and family. Mr. and Mrs. Seaman of Footville, passed last Sunday with Mrs. Seaman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Swader. Mrs. Crofoot and Earl have returned after a two weeks' visit in Delavan. A goodly number improved the sleighing in getting out to the social at Mrs. Stone's, last Friday evening. A pleasant time was had by all. The next mite society meeting will be held with Mrs. Howard Lee, Friday evening, March 1. John Noyes has returned from the county buildings where he went a week ago to run the electric lights. He is out of work and is looking for a job. Andrew Ten Eyck and family are soon to move on a farm they have bought near the Leyden house. They will be missed very much here but all hope the change will be for their good. A very pleasant tea was given by Miss Minnie Barber assisted by Miss Nellie Bentley last Friday evening, there being present Mrs. W. H. Pease, Mrs. Drown and Mrs. E. Sayer. The warm weather for the last few days has softened up tobacco so that work has been commenced again.

SURPRISE PARTY AT INDIAN FORD

Mr. and Mrs. George Lackner Presented With a $50 Silver Set.

INDIAN FORD, Feb. 22.—Last Monday evening about sixty of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Lackner dropped in to remind them that ten years ago they joined heart and hand. They were received with a hearty welcome and entertained according to the olden rule. Ten years of wedded life designates a tin wedding but it was decided to make it a silver one instead. As a souvenir of the occasion their many friends presented them with thirty-eight pieces of silver, costing $50. Dr. Red Wolf in a few well chosen remarks made the presentation speech. The gifts were accepted in the same true spirit with which the donors presented them, and to see the surprise and gratitude pictured in the countenance of both host and hostess each one present could not help saying away down in their hearts "I am glad I am here." Supper was prepared by the ladies Ganes of various kinds were indulged in, and the host and Dr. Red Wolf rendered a few choice selections on violin and guitar, to which Dr. Red Wolf answered the encore with guitar solo. The affair was planned and carried out by Dr. Red Wolf, J. C. Hurd went to Edgerton Tuesday evening on business. George Lackner visited Janesville on business last week. Edward Ward is kept busy drawing wood these days. Miss Dune spent Sunday in Janesville.

News Notes From Footville.

FOOTVILLE, Feb. 22.—Miss Lydia Selck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Selck, died at the home of her sister Mrs. William Diefahl on Center on Monday, pneumonia being the cause of her sudden death. She was sick only three days and the funeral took place on Thursday at the German M. E. church, after which the remains were laid to rest in Bethel cemetery. There will be a "bird-in-the-bush" social at the residence of Miss Edith Townsends on Tuesday evening to which all are cordially invited. Mrs. H. Harper spent a part of last week visiting in Magnolia. As the orchestra boys have felt for a time that one bass was not sufficient they have decided to double it. Messrs. Gilley and Ellis of Cookville were pleasant callers at T. P. Wells on Sunday. Mrs. William Ashby is confined to her home with throat trouble. The orchestra of this place is arranging for an entertainment to take place in the near future. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Merrill of Newark, who have been visiting among friends for the past week returned home Thursday. Master Perry Strang is ill with lung trouble. The social at Elmer Morrison's on Thursday evening was largely attended.

News Notes From Fairfield.

FAIRFIELD, Feb. 22.—Several of our farmers shipped carloads of hogs to the Chicago market this week. Miss Ada More of Milton, spent Sunday with the home friends. B. Monroe had three fine fat hogs stolen from the pen one night last week. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson More have returned from their wedding trip. Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson have moved their household goods from Darien to Cornelius Dykeman's where they will reside. Mr. and Mrs. William McCarthy mourn the death of their infant son, which occurred on Monday, aged three months.

MARZLUFF KNEW FRED DOUGLASS

Janesville's Shoe Manufacturer Was Named For the Noted Freedman

F. M. Marzluff read of the death of Frederick Douglas which was announced in yesterday's papers with inexpressible sadness. "I lived across the street from Mr. Douglass, in Rochester, N. Y., for many years," said Mr. Marzluff this morning. "I was named for him and I think he is one of the best men I ever knew. Nothing gave him more pleasure than to take a crowd of us boys out chestnutting, and I have spent many a happy hour with him."

THE PROGRAM FOR TONIGHT.

We wish to state to our patrons that One Minute Cough Cure is a safe and reliable remedy for children troubled with croup, colds, hoarseness and lung troubles. It is pleasant to take, and quickly cures. C. D. Stevens.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured J. G. Gorrell of the worst case of eczema ever known in the state of Indiana. It cures scalds, burns, indolent sores and never fails to cure piles. C. D. Stevens.

Street Railway Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Janesville Street Railway company will be held on Monday afternoon, Feb. 23, at 3 o'clock, at the rooms of the Caledonia society, in Bennett's block, for the election of directors for the ensuing year and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

In these days of telephone, telegraph, electricity and steam, people cannot afford to wait days or as many hours for relief. This is our reason for offering you One Minute Cough Cure. Neither days, nor hours, or even minutes elapse before the relief is afforded. C. D. Stevens.

Maple Wood $5 Per Cord.

Some of our friends say it is poor wood but just try a cord and you will find it the best maple wood that has been shipped into Janesville for years. Come and see it.

JANESVILLE COAL CO., J. H. Gateley, Manager.

A gentleman of this county who has excellent judgment, remarked to us the other day that he knew of no pill so good for constipation, dyspepsia and liver complaint as De Witt's Little Early Risers. C. D. Stevens.

Masquerade Ball.

The Daughters of Rebecca will give a masquerade ball at Columbia Hall Friday evening, February 22. A large number of invitations have been issued outside of the Odd Fellows, and a good time is expected. Don't forget the date.

MAPLE wood $5 a cord. Janesville Coal Company.

LITTLE ONES UNITE TO DO GOOD WORK

"THE TRY SOCIETY" ORGANIZED BY CHILDREN.

Their Object and Pledge Is "To Be and Do Good Every Hour of Their Lives"—Operetta of "The Jolly Farmers" at Columbia Hall—Other Social News Notes.

"The Try Society" is the name of a new Janesville organization connected with All Souls Sunday school. The society met last evening with Mr. and Mrs. George L. Carrington, in their rooms, in the Waverly flats. This society was formed for the purpose of helping the children of All Souls Sunday school to be good and do good every hour of their lives. They have a pass word which they repeat upon meeting each other, thus helping them to keep their little pledge, which is as follows:

"I hereby promise that I will try to be good and do good, too, every day and everywhere. That I will be gentle and respectful in my home and try to make it the sweetest place in the world. That I will be faithful to the Sunday school, and do all in my power to increase its interest and attendance. That I will be kind and unselfish, and speak pleasantly of all people and to all people."

The taking of this pledge and the payment of five cents, entitles any member of All Souls schools to join this society. This small fund thus obtained and occasional assessments, have enabled these children to engage in work of charity in a small, quiet way. The majority of adults connected with the Sunday school have also joined the society, for the sake of encouraging the children by meeting with them occasionally.

The officers are: Mrs. George L. Carrington, president; Mabel Greenman, secretary, and May Treat, treasurer. Those present last evening were Mr. and Mrs. George L. Carrington, Mabel Greenman, May Treat, Mrs. F. D. Kimball, Mrs. Water Helms, the Misses Harris, Josie Treat, Reta Kimball, Louise Merrill, Lena Fish and friends, Ned Helms, Lawrence Sanborn, Harold Hall, Charlie Dearborn, Arthur Eddington, Ralph Comstock, Harlie Fish, Percy Merrill, Carl Merrill, Louis Gage and others.

The first hour is usually devoted to recitations, music, etc., and then games follow. An early closing is always insisted upon, the happy little band going home promptly at 9 o'clock.

THE "JOLLY FARMERS" OPERETTA

Pleasing Performance Under the Auspices of the Y. P. R. S. of Trinity Church.

Imitation farmers were overalls and calico at Columbia hall last night and sang in behalf of the Young People's Rectory club of Trinity church. The part of Mr. Happyway, a jolly tiller of the soil, was taken by J. H. Burns, who always succeeds in pleasing a Janesville audience, while Mrs. Q. A. Curtess took the part of Mrs. Happyway in a charming manner. Other parts were assigned to William Denniston, Dr. Charles Pierce, Charles Knippenberg, Miss Addie Best, Miss Ida Fox, Mrs. George Cummings, Miss Oollie Best, Walter Houghton, Miss Annie McCaffrey, Miss Mamie Curtess, Harry E. Ransom and Norton Wells. Mrs. Mary R. Stever acted as pianist. The parts were all well taken and the performance of "The Jolly Farmers" will be long remembered.

CAST OF CHARACTERS.

Mr. Happyway, a Jolly Farmer, J. H. Burns. Mrs. Happyway, "Very Jolly Too," Mrs. Q. A. Curtess. Mr. Happyway's Dignified Assistants, Mr. Sam Pitcher, Mr. Fat Murphy, Mr. Mose Raykitt. Mr. Wm. ENTERTAINED BY MRS. JACKMAN.

Pleasant Affair in Honor of the M. D. Club Last Evening.

Mrs. C. S. Jackman gave a delightful 6 o'clock tea in honor of the "M. D. Club" yesterday afternoon. The house was decorated with carnations and roses and progressive whist was the chief amusement. Miss Louis Palmer was awarded a silver hat pin in recognition of her skill at that game while Miss Mary Pease was presented with a silver soap dish. Elaborate refreshments were served, a sick of candy tied with a souvenir ribbon being laid at each plate. The affair was much enjoyed the guests being:

Mesdames—A. H. Barrington, Edwin F. Carpenter, Fred Jackson, A. P. Burnham. Misses—Parnell B. Carle, Harriet Julia Vankirk, Louise Hart, Louise Palmer, Mary Pease, Racine Bostwick, Alice Heimstreet, Mary Louise Bostwick, Mary Lena Richardson, Elizabeth Ford, Josephine A. Carle, Helen Wilson Moseley, Mabel F. Shumway, Miss Treat, Monroe, Mary Elinore Stevens, Fita H. Nebett, Elizabeth P. Norcross, Jeannette Rowe.

MR. AND MRS. ANDERSON SURPRISED

Friends Reminded Them of Their Seventeenth Anniversary Last Evening.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Anderson were pleasantly surprised last evening by two dozen friends, who came to remind them that seven years had passed since they were wed. The hours sped quickly with card playing and other social amusements and the occasion was much enjoyed. Those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Reynolds, C. H. Brown, T. M. Matthews, P. Ohlweiler, M. H. Whitaker, A. A. Blunt, Misses—Clar. Root, Messrs—R. La Follette.

MINOR SOCIAL NOTES.

ABOUT thirty couples were entertained by the A. O. U. W. at their hall last evening. Dancing formed the evening's pleasure. Excellent music was furnished by a mandolin club composed of Harry S. Haggart, George H. Robinson, Charles Johnson and G. A. Bruman.

THE Misses Hatherall and Mead of the Washington school entertained their scholars last evening at the school, with a magic lantern show. U. H. Mead had charge of the apparatus.

MR. and Mrs. D. W. Watt entertained the Whist club last evening, H. G. Carter winning the gentleman's prize, while the ladies prizes went to Mrs. W. P. Sayles and Mrs. J. B. Dearborn.

MISS EMMA ROWE entertained twenty of her young friends Wednesday night to a "bob ride" and an oyster supper at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Rowe.

MRS. JENNIE BAKER entertained a few friends last evening at cards.

A DAY ON THE CITY STREETS

It has long been known as the most magnificent legendary drama ever presented to an American audience, and its production at the Academy of Music, New York, last fall, was a matter of no small importance in the theatrical world. It will be seen here with all its wealth of scenery, costumes, armor and dazzling ballets. It requires an enormous expenditure of time, money and brains to successfully organize, produce and send en route such a mammoth enterprise. At the Grand tonight.

FIRE AT E. RAY INMAN'S HOUSE

By Using Cans of Preserves as Hand Grenades the Blaze Was Conquered.

A dozen cans of preserves and large experience as a member of the Fire Police, enabled E. Ray Inman to quell a blaze in the cellar of his fine new Riverview Park residence and keep that structure from going up in smoke. As Mr. Inman was going down stairs with a lighted candle in his hand a curtain in the cellar was whirled into the flame and ignited. The blaze soon ran up to the ceiling and things began to look bad. No water was handy but Mr. Inman's presence of mind didn't desert him. Ranged along on a shelf was a row of fruit cans filled with "pound-for-pound" preserves.

"Why not use them as hand grenades?" was the thought that suggested itself. The plan seemed feasible so Mr. Inman suited the action to the idea, but it took a half hour of lively work.

DEBATE ON SCHOOL TOOK UP SOME TIME

SECTARIAN TALK IN THE NA- TIONAL SENATE.

Both Lincoln and Hampton Schools to Be Retained—House Defeats the Proposition to Build the Hawaiian Cable—New Pacific Bill.

Washington, Feb. 22.—There were just sixteen senators in the senate chamber when the 11 o'clock session opened yesterday, and Mr. Wolcott suggested the absence of a quorum. The jingling of senate bells hurriedly assembled the senators and forty-seven responded to the call for a quorum, two more than the necessary number. Senator Irby presented the credentials of B. R. Tillman as senator from South Carolina for the term beginning March 4 next. Senator Turpie offered a resolution from the committee on foreign relations expressing the high appreciation of the senate as to the distinguished honors accorded by the Mexican government on the occasion of the obsequies of the United States minister, Mr. Gray, and directing the secretary of state to forward copies of the resolution to the authorities of Mexico. The resolution was agreed to. The house joint resolution was passed for the suspension of certain features of the law authorizing the transportation of goods through the United States to the free zone of Mexico so long as the Mexican free zone law exists.

The income tax question came up on Mr. Gorman's motion to reconsider the senate approval of the conference report on the bill amending the law. Mr. Vest defended the conference changes. Mr. Gorman referred to the attitude of the other branch of congress on the question of corporations and compared the course of the house on the tariff bill with the course of the house conferees now. Mr. Chandler said this disclosed the serious danger of conference committees, and after some talking on motion of Mr. Vest the motion of Mr. Gorman to reconsider was laid on the table—yeas, 57; nays, 10.

The conference report on the pension appropriation bill was agreed to. It retains the provision making $6 the minimum for pensions. It also retains the repeal of the present law suspending the pensions of persons living outside of the country.

The sectarian school question came up and Mr. Cockrell explained the appropriation committee had sought to take out of the bill everything that was catholic and everything that was protestant, and thus to separate church from state. Mr. Lodge said the secretary of the interior had recommended the gradual abolition of sectarian schools, and they had carried out this policy.

Mr. Hawley urged that in abandoning sectarian schools there should be no abandonment of Christian teachings in government schools. Mr. Cockrell, chairman of the appropriations committee, said in view of the excitement throughout the country on this subject the committee had decided to make a clean sweep of both catholic and protestant schools.

Mr. Pettigrew offered an amendment specifically authorizing the Indian officers to use $550,000 of the amounts appropriated in buying the abandoned schools. Mr. Teller said there was no warrant for the statement that the present policy of abandoning sectarian schools would eliminate morality and Christianity from the schools. Mr. Gallinger read a prepared speech on the separation of church and state.

A ye and nay vote was taken on abandoning the Hampton school in Virginia and Lincoln school in Philadelphia, which was regarded as somewhat of a test, and the abandonment failed—yeas, 21; nays, 32. Summary—Yeas: Democrats, 15; republicans, 6; total, 21. Nays—Democrats, 10; republicans, 20; populists, 2.

Mr. Lodge offered an amendment for the gradual abandonment of denominational schools within the next three years. This amendment and others pending were not acted upon.

At 6 o'clock, after a half hour of parliamentary obstruction and roll-calls, the senate took a recess until 8 o'clock to consider the issue of Washington (D. C.) sewer bonds.

WILL NOT AID THE CABLE.

House Votes Down the Senate Amendments—Strong Pleas Made.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Mr. Hooker (dem., Miss.), a member of the foreign affairs committee, opened the debate in opposition to the Hawaiian cable appropriation in the house yesterday. He declared himself against government ownership. Mr. Storer (rep., Ohio) deprecated making this matter a party question. He thought the cable was a necessity. Mr. Draper (rep., Mass.) said he favored this cable as a preliminary step toward the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands.

Mr. Hermann (rep., Ore.) declared that to the Pacific coast the question of a cable connection with Honolulu overshadowed and transcended all others save only that of the construction of the Nicaragua canal. Mr. Harter (dem., Ohio) thought this cable should be laid by private capital, and he understood private parties had appeared before the committee and had asked for a charter for this purpose. Mr. Ryan (dem., N. Y.) thought the house could well afford in the closing hours of the session to show its sympathy with merchants desiring to extend trade by voting an appropriation for the construction of this cable. Mr. Tucker (dem., Va.) opposed the amendment.

Mr. Sickles (dem., N. Y.) earnestly supported the cable proposition, saying as he closed his speech "Mr. Speaker, my span of life has not much longer to run, yet I hope to live to see the star of the republic add its tropical splendor to the star of the Western Hemisphere."

Mr. McCrary closed the debate, and in the course of his remarks denied Mr. Cleveland had ever endorsed a proposition for the construction of a Hawaiian cable by the government. He had merely favored the incorporation of a company to lay such a cable. The vote was then taken on Mr. Hill's motion that the house agree to the senate amendments. Mr. Hill demanded the yeas and nays and the roll was called. The motion was lost—114 to 152. Without division the house on motion of Mr. McCrary, non-concurred in the amendments and a further conference was ordered.

The house then went into committee of the whole and entered into the consideration of the general deficiency bill. Mr. Breckinridge (dem., Ky.) made a preliminary statement of the appropriations, which aggregated $6,519,539. Mr. Breckinridge offered an amendment to pay Great Britain $425,000 on account of the Bering Sea awards of the Paris tribunal, which went over without action.

After completing eighteen of the sixty-five pages of the bill under a special order made some days ago the house listened to the eulogies on the life and public services of the late Senator Stockbridge of Michigan. Those who paid tribute to the memory of their late associate in the senate were Messrs. Thomas, Griffin, Linton, Gorman, Weadock, Avery and Richardson of Michigan, Groat of Vermont, and Blair of New Hampshire. Then at 5 o'clock, as a further mark of respect, the house adjourned.

TO TALK IT TO DEATH.

Silver Men Declare War on Loan Certificates.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The silver men have determined to fight the proposition for certificates of indebtedness in the sundry civil bill and will carry their opposition to such lengths as will prevent the bill becoming a law if it is retained. A conference of silver senators upon this subject last evening developed great opposition to the certificate proposition and a purpose of talking the bill to death in case the loan amendment was retained. The possibility that the senate will send the sundry civil bill back to the house with the amendment authorizing the secretary of the treasury to issue certificates of indebtedness is not yet stirring much discussion in the house. The members of the appropriations committee, who will be the conferees upon the bill, say that if the secretary of the treasury wants the authority they are willing to give it to him. The statement of the secretary that the provision will not be needed has its weight with the administration democrats but not with the republicans, many of whom say they will support the amendment. It will be opposed by the democrats, however, if the clause compelling future issues of bonds to be offered at public sale be retained. That is construed to be a prohibition against fulfilling the agreement in the recent contract to offer to the syndicate any bonds issued before Oct. 1. Democratic members who are on the best terms with President Cleveland do not hesitate to say that he would veto the sundry civil bill rather than have it become a law with such a stipulation incorporated in it.

MAY CONSIDER STATEHOOD BILLS.

Senate Not Likely to Act on Pooling and Bankruptcy.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Now that there is no further prospect of action on the financial question in the senate there has been a revival of interest in the other general measures, including the pooling, bankruptcy and New Mexico and Arizona admission bills, but the special champion of each of these measures realize that there is little hope of favorable action and only in the case of the territorial bills of getting any of them up for consideration. In the matter of these bills, Senator Faulkner, who, as chairman of the committee on territories, has charge of them, says he expects to get a day for their consideration but does not believe the republicans will allow them to pass, and that if they choose they can easily prevent this result at the present late day of the session. Senator George frankly admits that he sees no prospect of again getting up the bankruptcy bill. The friends of the pooling bill are more persistent but they find obstacles in their way at every turn. Much will depend upon the decision of the democratic steering committee as to whether these bills will be given a day in court.

Circuit Judge Moore Nominated.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 22.—One of the prettiest fights ever seen in a Michigan political convention ended last night in the nomination of Circuit Judge Joseph B. Moore of Lapeer for justice of the Supreme Court. There were a dozen candidates for the position and eight long and tedious ballots were taken before a choice was made. The platform pledges adherents to the principles enunciated in the last national platform and indorses the position of the Michigan republican congressmen who voted to substitute "coin" for "gold" in recent bond legislation.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—George B. Swift was nominated for mayor of Chicago by the republican convention yesterday. The nomination was by acclamation. A full city ticket was also nominated.

THE SCHOOL BOY

—is often a sufferer from headache. The seat of sick headache is not in the brain, for if you regulate the stomach and bowels you'll cure it. Too much brain-work and brain-tire brings on a rush of blood to the head with headache, dizziness or "nose bleed."

Miss BERTHA WOLFE, of Dayton, Cataraugus Co., N. Y., writes: "I suffered from loss of appetite, constipation, neuralgia, and great weakness, and had terrible attacks of sick headache very frequently; also nose bleed. My health was so poor that I was not able to go to school for two years. I took Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and in a short time I was strong and well. Many friends are taking your medicines, saying what they have done for me."

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

1732—Birth of Washington.
1819—James Russell Lowell, poet, author and diplomat, born in Cambridge, Mass.; died 1891.
1847—Battle of Buena Vista begun.
1848—Uprising in Paris; beginning of the revolution against Louis Philippe. The national guard declared in favor of reform and united with the people in demanding the dismissal of the ministers. Barricades were erected in the principal streets, troops and citizens fraternized, and by night the city was in control of the mob.
1875—Sir Charles Lyell, eminent geologist, died; born 1797.

People who believe that the good will of a well established newspaper, represents nothing in the way of commercial value should make an estimate of what that commodity brought in the sale of the Chicago Herald. At least one-fourth of the purchase price $2,000,000 was nothing but "blue sky" and yet it sold at par, to one of the best business men in Chicago.

Mayor Strong, of New York, possesses all the qualities of the average mayor, with several extras thrown in. His spinal column would do justice to Sandow, while his independence of character and action is a novelty to which the great city has long been a stranger. That better city government will result is already apparent.

A prohibition petition three miles long and containing 3,000,000 names, secured by the Woman's Christian Union, was presented to President Cleveland last Tuesday. The originators propose to send it to all civilized countries for endorsement, expecting thereby to set in motion a great tidal wave of temperance reform.

Senator Vilas, has discovered his mission, and he fills it well. He devoted four hours to a eulogy on the president during the silver debate last Tuesday, as a time killer. The question was entirely foreign to the absorbing topic before the senate, but it had the double effect of clearing the atmosphere and the galleries.

President Cleveland is preparing for a duck hunt shortly after the first of March, while Secretary Carlisle is going on a gunning expedition for foreign game. They both anticipate relief from the bond nightmare that has haunted them day and night for many weary months.

Senator Jones of Arkansas, is a fair sample of the statesmen who are riding hobbies through the halls of congress in this eventful year of democratic ascendancy. He ought to be pensioned for life with fifty cent cart wheels and a furlough thrown in.

Secretary Carlisle possesses all the qualities of the popular Colonel Sellers. A prospective deficiency never clouds his mental vision, and he has the happy faculty of tiding them over when they come in a manner that causes England to smile audibly.

Senator Aldrich very truthfully said in the silver debate the other day that if he had the backing of the government and was obliged to pay a premium of one per cent. for money he would go out of business.

So Bright.

The price. That's the thing. A more superb stock of clothing, gent's furnishings and shoes cannot be found than at S. D. Grubb's, West Milwaukee street. Steve is now getting in his spring stock and his excellence of taste is shown throughout. He has added boys' and men's shoes and can now dress a man from head to foot, without a break. The beauty of this stock is that Steve buys for spot cash, as soon as the goods are in the house and checked off and gets a price borrowers cannot possibly procure. When you want something neat, nice and cheap for your boy or yourself, this is the store to visit.

A BIG FIRE RAGED AT HOT SPRINGS

ARKANSAS TOWN DEVASTATED THIS MORNING.

Five Business Blocks, Ten Stores, Twenty-Five Residences and Fifty Bathhouses are Destroyed and the Loss of Loss of Life Is Reported From Three to Eight People.

Hot Springs, Neb., Feb. 22.—Fire broke out at 4 o'clock this morning and was not controlled until 1 o'clock this afternoon. Four business blocks were destroyed, including ten stores, twenty-five dwellings and fifty bath houses.

From three to eight people are said to have been killed. The loss is very heavy.

THOUSANDS GO HUNGRY.

Government Relief for Newfoundland's Destitute People Is Withdrawn.

St. Johns, N. F., Feb. 22.—The destitution arising from the financial crisis is increasing. In this city about 7,000 persons are regularly receiving relief. The funds for this purpose are becoming low and there is yet another month of real hardship before the poor. The Herald, by a bread-baking contest, secured 1,000 loaves to-day which it will distribute. The government has been contributing $1,000 weekly for the benefit of the poor but this has now been withdrawn. The government intimates its intention of starting relief works. The opposition press accuses the government of cutting off its contribution to the relief fund in order to devote the $1,000 weekly to a corruption fund to be used in the elections which occur within a fortnight.

STATES REPRESENTED.

Some of the Appropriations Made for Monuments.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Information has been received by the Chickamauga park commission that the Illinois legislature has passed a bill appropriating $65,500 for monuments for the troops of that state at the national park, and that it is expected to have them erected before the dedication of the park in September. A letter from a member of the Wisconsin commission says that an appropriation from that state of $20,000 is assured and it is expected that its commission will be ready to begin the erection of its monuments in June. The Kansas legislature has also made provisions for erecting monuments to the troops of that state.

Kills His Young Wife in Jealousy.

Decatur, Ind., Feb. 22.—Samuel Young, 70 years old, in a fit of mad jealousy made his young wife leave his house at Willshire, Ohio. She started for her sister's home, a half mile away. He overtook her and stabbed her with a butcher knife. She managed to reach her sister's home, where she died. The alarm was given, and crowds of enraged citizens started in pursuit of Young. He reached his house, which the crowd broke open, and, entering, they found Young had hanged himself.

Mayor of Des Moines on Trial.

Des Moines, Iowa, Feb. 22.—Mayor Hillis was placed on trial before the council yesterday. It charged by four policemen that he disposed of certain privileges for money which went into his own pocket. The other parties to these transactions, it is charged, are Jim Falkner and L. M. Rinehart, both gamblers. The policemen who make the charges were discharged by the mayor for alleged non-performance of orders to close up gambling.

Our Bonds in Demand.

London, Feb. 21.—Messrs. Rothschild yesterday announced that the American loan had been covered a little over twenty times. The Rothschilds did not intend to take any portion of the amount of the loan that has been allotted to America. Subscriptions for the loan were not opened in Paris, all the French subscriptions having been made here. Large subscriptions were made in England outside of London, proportionately at a par with those in London.

France Threatens San Domingo.

Washington, Feb. 22.—France is taking steps to make San Domingo yield to its demand for restitution of the money taken from a bank established in San Domingo by French capital, and also for a large indemnity for the damage done as a result of this action. French gunboats have been sent to the port of Santo Domingo and several more will follow. Our government is taking steps to protect American citizens.

Daughters of the Revolution.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution yesterday elected Mrs. Mary McP. Foster, wife of the ex-secretary of state, president-general, and Mrs. Charles Sweet Johnson, vice-president-general in charge of organization.

EYEBALL BLISTERED WITH A HOT IRON

PAINFUL ACCIDENT BEFEL
MRS. JOHN V. FULTON.

Heated Curling Iron Was Accidentally Pushed Into Her Optic and She Will Always Carry the Scar—Sight Will Be Saved—Other City News.

Mrs. JOHN V. FULTON accidentally pushed a heated curling iron into her left eye while dressing for the Anderson surprise party last night. Today she was suffering a great deal but Dr. Woods gives it as his opinion that she will not lose her eye, although it will always bear the scar. Mrs. Fulton and her husband were alone at the home, No. 6 South River street, at the time the accident occurred. Mrs. Fulton had just heated the iron and was about to use it when something attracted her attention. She turned quickly and struck the heated iron into her eye. The end of the hot steel rod came in contact with the pupil of the eye, and in an instant the optic had turned white and become sightless. She at once sent her daughter for her husband, who is a barber employed by Ide & Tift, who summoned a physician. The left eye was the one injured and Mrs. Fulton was suffering greatly when a Gazette reporter visited the home, Number 6 South River street, this afternoon.

LITTLE BOY DIED FOR WANT OF CARE

AT LEAST THAT IS THE WAY
THEY TELL IT.

Adam Medrick Is Away From Home; His Wife Is In the Insane Asylum and Five Children Had to Shift For Themselves—Little One Passed Away Last Night.

The death of little Adam Medrick at 9 o'clock last night revealed a sad state of affairs in the home of Fred Medrick on North street.

The little boy belonged to a family of five children, and he had been sick only a few days with pneumonia.

His mother is an inmate of the insane asylum, and the father is not at home.

The children are all small, and with one exception unable to care for themselves. It is reported that this little boy's death was more for the lack of care than of the severity of the disease. One girl works in the cotton factory, giving her scant earnings to support her little brothers and sisters, but does not earn sufficient money to meet their demands.

Rev. Mr. Koerner of St. Paul's church on learning of the circumstances and destitution of the household, took the matter in hand and will see to it that the little ones, who appear to be almost completely deserted and destitute, suffer no more.

The father left home one week ago, leaving the family in charge of another woman who it is said, neglected her charge.

The funeral will be held from the home at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and from St. Paul's Lutheran church at 2 o'clock.

Rev. H. G. McArthur.

Rev. Henry G. McArthur, D. D., of Fort Atkinson, who was well known to Janesville people, died at his home in that city Wednesday evening. Mr. McArthur was well known to Wisconsin newspaper workers, as he went with the state editorial association on their trip a year ago this fall. He was a well known Congregational minister, having had charge of the churches in Oakshosh, Beloit and many other cities in Wisconsin. The funeral took place this afternoon.

Whitton.

A dispatch received from Washington by P. J. Mout, this afternoon, chronicled the death of Mrs. Whitton, mother of R. J. Whitton, formerly of the Richardson shoe company, but now private secretary to Assistant Secretary of War Doe.

Pahl.

The one week old baby of Mr. and Mrs. August Pahl died at the family home, in the town of Center this morning.

FINE DECORATIONS FOR A PARTY

Conductors Have a Chicago Expert to Arrange Flowers, Pictures, Etc.

The committee of arrangements for the conductors' party at the Armory this evening are doing some artistic work in the line of decorations, they having secured the services of A. C. Kahlbrand, an expert decorator from Chicago. The windows are being handsomely draped, and pictures and fancy ornaments will adorn the walls, while the orchestra box will be a bank of flowers and foliage. Flowers are displayed in great profusion and it will be no fault of the committee of arrangements should the guests fail to enjoy themselves this evening.

KAYLER-ADAMS NUPTIALS.

The Ceremony Was Performed at The County Farm Last Night.

In the presence of all the inmates and employes of the county poor farm and insane asylum, Miss Mamie Adams, who has charge of the laundry at that institution, and James Kayler, who has charge of one of the wards at the asylum, were married last evening. Rev. Dr. Halsey officiating. Following the ceremony came a dance and many congratulations were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Kayler. The bride is well and favorably known, while the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kayler of Riverview Park. Many friends will wish them joy.

CLAIMED HIS CHECKS WERE GONE

James White of Brooklyn Says He Lost Valuable Papers.

James White of Brooklyn reported to Chief of Police Acheson this morning that a number of bank checks he had in his possession last night were missing. White was in too much of a stupor to intelligently explain matters, and the chief advised him to go to sleep and after he had taken a good rest to call again.

THE TOWN TALES OF A DAY.

"Cut of debt," won't that be gay! But you can't hardly expect that joyful event while you pay old Calf Skin & Co. those war prices for their shoes. Look around next time you want a pair, and you will easily notice the difference in prices. Brown Bros. & Lincoln.

THE Junior society will give a social this evening in the parlors of the Baptist church. The Senior society is especially invited. A programme has been prepared appropriate to Washington's birthday. A good time is anticipated.

OLD Fellows can get invitations for their friends for the Rebecca masquerade ball at S. C. Burnham's jewelry store and Smith's pharmacy; and all others holding invitations can secure tickets at the same places.

"CUTICREAM P. & E. O. P. O." 15 letters to work on—all the vowels; it should be no trouble to make several thousand; $10 first prize; $5 second prize. No souvenirs, but genuine gold. Prentice & Evenson.

DIAMONDS, diamonds on every hand. We have a big diamond trade, some more new ones in today, very rare and beautiful. We have just earned the reputation of the diamond brokers of southern Wisconsin. F. C. Cook & Co.

JUST apply yourself, you have no idea the number of words you can make out of "Cuticream, P. & E. O. P. O." You may be just the one that will get the $10 in gold. Prentice & Evenson.

ONE more month and we will commence to "count up" to see who gets the cash prizes we propose to give away. April 1 is the day set. Have you tried your hand? Prentice & Evenson.

WE put some of our wash dress goods in the window yesterday and sold several dresses. This is certainly the best and cheapest line of wash dress goods ever in town. Bort, Bailey & Co.

GREEN & ALLEN, the plumbers at 6 Milwaukee street on the bridge mend water pipes, gas pipes and steam pipes, also have on hand all the time, all kinds of gas and steam appliances.

SEVEN and nine South River street is just south of Lowell's hardware store, where Holloway & Johnson where. There you can get the best clothing at 50 cents on the dollar.

CITY CLERK BATES OVERCOME BY GAS

COAL STOVE LEAKED WHILE HE WAS ASLEEP.

He Discovered the Fact, and After Falling On the Floor, Succeeded In Reaching the Door and Opening It When The Fresh Air Revived Him.

City Clerk George H. Bates came near being the subject for a coroner's inquest this morning. Clerk Bates' wife is visiting friends in Fulton, and George undertook to run the family base burner according to his own mode of engineering. He awoke at an early hour this morning and found himself suffocating from coal gas. He undertook to get up but fell headlong to the floor. He made out to crawl to the door, which he opened and obtained fresh air. After gaining sufficient strength he came down town and the family physician directed him to take a five mile walk out in the country and back, in order that he might inhale sufficient fresh air to rid his lungs of the foul gas.

LISTEN TO HAYWARD
TELL HIS VERSION

THE DEFENDANT TELLS HIS STORY AT MINNEAPOLIS.

He Recounts the Circumstances That Led Up to the Murder of Catherine Ging—Admits He Gambled—His Relations With the Victim Explained.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 22.—Harry Hayward took the witness stand yesterday morning in his own defense. His gambling propensities were admitted freely. According to his story, however, his gambling deals at Chicago with Miss Ging as a partner were in the early part of the year, and finally, in August, he refused to use her money for that purpose. The witness tried to carry the impression to the jury that he suspected she was pursuing her gambling with others, but it was only by innuendo. One queer point was that while Harry insisted that he never loaned Miss Ging the $2,500, but only gave it to her to keep for him until he demanded it, her note to him refers to it as a loan.

The part of his evidence most interesting to the audience was when he came to that part of his testimony which brought him to the day of the murder. He led up to it by describing the scene of the signing of the $4,000 note in the Onida block, and after he was all through his evidence was a mixture of the testimony of the elevator boy and Blixt. He only impeached Blixt in saying it was not prearranged that Blixt should come there at that time and his not telling Blixt to say he saw many large bills. Harry swore the night of the murder he arrived at the Ozark at 6:45 o'clock. Then he told of doing an incredible number of things before 7:22, the time he came out from supper and went to his flat. He was sure he was in the theatre that night before the curtain went up. In regard to the bottle of whisky he said he often bought the liquor for Miss Ging, and he purchased that bottle Saturday and carried it around in his pocket all day, taking it to his bath room.

The prisoner's evidence was hardly begun when court adjourned, and it will be continued Monday, adjournment having been taken to that time.

When the court opened in the morning the cross-examination of W. W. Hayward, father of Harry, was continued. Other unimportant testimony followed when Harry was placed on the stand. In answer to preliminary questions he said he was born in Macoupin county, Ill., was 29 years of age and had lived in Minneapolis twenty-five years.

"Now," said Mr. Erwin, "Mr. Blixt has testified against you and Adry Hayward has testified against you. Have they testified correctly?"

"They have not," responded the witness, setting his teeth.

"Has the testimony of Adry Hayward given here on the stand been true or false?"

"Almost wholly false."

"Do you know any reason why?"

"I do."

"Explain it to the jury."

Objection was made to this and sustained, as well as to several other questions of a kindred nature.

Erwin asked the witness to tell about all his relations with Miss Ging. He replied: "Well, I was introduced to Miss Ging, I think, in January, 1894, by Mr. Speaker, at the boarding house. I met her at first perhaps as often as twice a week. Then you might say we began to be getting fairly well acquainted. Things went on in that way during April. We kept getting better and better acquainted all the time; more and more intimate. From July and August on through to December we were what you might call lovers, I suppose. She was a true and noble girl to the best of my belief, both toward me and toward everybody else. I've taken her driving, we've gone to the theatre, to suppers, and I've taken her to church. I've been calling on her and we have walked together, on the streets and everywhere. I guess we've been every place together. I've taken her riding dozens of times and to the theatre. It would be impossible to mention all the places where we have been."

He declared Adry's testimony, in which he said he had never met the murdered girl, to be false. He was sure Adry had met her and knew her well. Talking of their gambling deals together he said: "The first time she went in we won and then we lost and she got interested. I knew that a great many people were fascinated by the game. I told her about it when I thought she was getting fascinated, but she said, 'Never you mind, it's all right.' I didn't want her to lose and knew the next time I played for her I played a very careful game. I wanted to come out so she would be even. I got pretty near even and then I stopped. I took the money to her, but she wanted to play again. I got scared. She wanted me to play for her, and that was the time she gave me that paper."

Harry then described the various winnings and losses he had made for Miss Ging. While in Chicago he had lost $1,500. He explained the telegrams he had sent from Chicago at length and while in the midst of his explanations a recess was taken for dinner.

FEARS A LYNCHING.
Man Who Tried to Kill the Bowley Family Does Not Want Bail.
Peoria, Ill., Feb. 22.—Albert Wallace, who attempted to kill his brother-in-law, John Bowley, his sister, Mrs. Bowley, and Thomas Lyman, the farm hand, was bound over to await the action of the grand jury. He has made no effort to give bail, being afraid of summary punishment at the hands of residents of Dillon township. They have made threats against him, and armed guards are at the county jail. Mrs. Bowley is dead. Lyman is badly wounded, and there is a possibility of his death. Mr. Bowley was the least injured.

It is not a miracle. It won't cure everything, but it will cure piles. That's what Dr. Witt's Witch Hazel Salve will do, because it has done it in hundreds of cases. C. D. Stevens

SILVER IS THE ISSUE.

The Silverites Will Surely Make a Presidential Nomination.

Washington, Feb. 22.—"There will be a new alignment of the parties in the next presidential campaign," said Representative Bland of Missouri yesterday. "The free silver men intend to get together and nominate a man who reflects their sentiments."

"Suppose," it was suggested, "after a contest at the next democratic convention a candidate should be selected who is opposed to free silver, what would you and other gentlemen who entertain views on this subject similar to yours do in that case?"

"We would not support him."

"But suppose he was the party nominee?"

"There is nothing," replied Mr. Bland, "to prevent as many tickets being put in the field as is desired; and the free silver men would have theirs."

"Suppose one party nominated a gold monometallist and the other a candidate who was inclined to be friendly to free silver, but who did not stand squarely on such a platform—what then?"

"We want no half way candidate. We want a free coinage man or nobody."

"You think, then, that the money question will be the overshadowing issue in the next campaign?"

"It will be the only issue. It ought to have been the principal issue two years ago, but we were then just emerging from the shadow of sectionalism and the force bill and it was no time to divide on financial questions. But that time has now arrived and the next contest will be waged between the free coinage men and those who oppose that proposition. Party lines will be obliterated and this will be the one thing which will divide the voters of the country."

Representative Livingstone of Georgia, who is also a strong advocate of the free coinage of silver, agrees with Mr. Bland that the silver question will be the question of prime importance before the country next year. He insists the silver men will nominate a candidate of their own but he does not believe this will be done after a democratic convention shall have nominated a candidate opposed to free silver.

"If we went into the democratic convention," he continued, "we would have to be bound by the convention's action. Our presence there would commit us to such a result and we could not afford to bolt. For that reason I think the free silver men will nominate a candidate independently of the two old parties."

"Do you think you can elect a candidate standing such a platform if his opponent be diametrically opposed to such views?"

"I do, and I believe he would sweep the country. Such a candidate would carry New York state. I'll bet you $1,000 on it."

GOTHAM'S BIG STRIKE.

Twenty-Five Thousand Men Expected to Go Out.

New York, Feb. 22.—The strike of the building trades in sympathy with that of the electrical wiremen bids fair to surpass any other in the history of these organizations. It is not improbable that it may affect nearly 100,000 men. So far 2,000 men are out and the others are said to be simply awaiting the word. At noon yesterday the workmen on the American Surety building and the addition to St. Luke's hospital quit work. It was announced that work would cease on the new clearing house building in Cedar street. The board of walking delegates controls 25,000 men, all of whom will doubtless be called out. With these over 60,000 mechanics who are in no way affiliated with the organizations represented will be dragged out.

The Keystone of the Arch

In the edifice of health is vigor, which means not merely muscular energy but an active discharge of the various functions of the body, such as digestion, secretion of the bile, the action of the bowels, the circulation of the blood. Nothing more actively and thoroughly contributes to the united performance of these functions than the renowned tonic and regulator, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The result of its use is a speedy gain in strength, together with the agreeable consciousness that the tenure of life is being strengthened—that one is living up to a store of vitality and escaping the unavoidable draughts which a weak system brings upon the system. The fortifying influence of the Bitters constitute it a reliable safeguard against malaria, rheumatism and kidney trouble. Appetite and sleep improve through its use, and it protects the system from the effects of cold and Shot by a Policeman.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 22.—Policeman James Dwyer shot and instantly killed Owen Walsh, a miner, in Harrington H. Driscoll's saloon here about midnight. A fight was in progress between two men in the saloon and the officer stepped in to quell it. Walsh cut the policeman above the left eye with a knife. The officer drew his gun and fired into the wall above the bar to frighten his assailant, but Walsh only fought more fiercely and the officer shot him through the heart.

He Will Get Their Heads.

London, Feb. 22.—A dispatch from Tien-Tsin says an imperial decree issued Feb. 19 announces that Tao-Tai-Kung and Gen. Yeh-Chi-Can have been tried by the board of punishment and condemned to imprisonment until autumn, when they will be beheaded. This punishment is inflicted upon them for the loss of Port Arthur.

Swedish Patriotic Festival.

Stockholm, Feb. 22.—A grand patriotic festival has been held here in the large hall of the board of trade building. The celebration took place under the auspices of the Woman's Society for Sweden's Defense, and the proceeds will swell the fund which is being collected for defense of Norland (the northern part of Sweden).

Oranges for W. E. Gladstone.

San Bernardino, Cal., Feb. 22.—In two weeks, or the shortest time it is possible to make between San Bernardino, Cal., and Hawarden castle, England, the Rt. Hon. William E. Gladstone will receive a box of Highland oranges, sent by John J. Valentine, president of the Wells-Fargo express company. Next Wednesday President Cleveland will receive a similar present.

WHAT BABY WILL GET THE GAZETTE'S $500

THAT IS THE PRIZE TO BE AWARDED JUNE 1.

The Brightest, Sweetest and Loveliest
Child in the City Will Be Given Five Shares of Paid Up Stock in the Rock County Building & Loan Association.

The sweetest, brightest and loveliest baby in Janesville gets $500
from The Gazette June 1.

Whose is that baby?
That question sounds easy.
As if there was the least doubt whose baby is the loveliest," says every proud mother looking at her own olive branch. And that's the trouble. Talk it over until Christmas you may but never expect to get a convention of mothers to agree on the baby question.

For the benefit of jealous parents, anxious aunts and uncles and proud brothers and sisters of older growth,
however, the matter should be settled.
And settled it is to be.

How?
Why not by vote?

That plan seems the fairest and most satisfactory—the safest too, for who would dare judge among the hundreds of dimpled darlings that grace the Bower City. A vote will decide, therefore, and all Janesville may cast their ballots. Three months from the day the polls open a $500 block of stock in the Rock County Building Loan and Savings Association will be turned over to the infant with the strongest "drag", as politicians would put it.

five hundred dollars.
A handsome nest egg for any infant.

Put out at interest until the little one reaches maturity and it swells to proportions even more impressive.
And in building association stock with all dues paid it is in very desirable form.

The association selected is known to everybody in the city. These are the officers and directors who testify to its solidity. These are the men:

President—Samuel C. Cobb.
First Vice President—Alex. Graham.
Second Vice President—W. H. Judd.
Attorney—Charles E. Pierce.
Secretary—George L. Carrington.
Treasurer—Isaac Farnsworth.
Directors—S. C. Cobb, Alex.
Graham, Dr. William H. Judd, L. B.
Reynolds, Miss Lizzie Paterson, James
E. Fifield, George L. Carrington, E.
W. Lowell, S. B. Lewis, Archie Reid,
F. M. Marzuff, H. F. Bliss.

These officers and directors stand behind every share of the association's stock. Five shares of this stock is now in the association's keeping subject to the Gazette's order. Polls will be open in the Gazette office March 1
and will remain open until June 1.
The baby that receives the most ballots in that time will receive a certificate calling for these five shares of stock. There are no dues to be paid, no assessments to be met, no installments to provide for. The stock stands for $500 in cash and on its maturity, which will be in nine and one-third years,
the money will be ready. The prize is a handsome one—it is well worth winning and the conditions of the ballot are as follows:

From March 1 until June 1, a coupon will be printed in each issue of
The Gazette.

Any one, anywhere in any state is entitled to vote as often as they buy a copy of The Janesville Gazette containing the above ballot.

Cut the ballot out (trimming on the dotted lines.) Write in the name of your candidate and enclose same in an envelope addressed to Ballot Editor,
Gazette, Janesville, Wis.

Only one person can be voted for on one ballot.

The baby who receives the largest number of votes will receive five shares of stock in the Rock County Building
& Savings Association, cash value,
$500 at maturity.

The contest will close June 1 at 9
p. m., and the stock will be delivered as soon as the count of votes is completed.

Any non-subscriber who will subscribe for The Gazette and pay in advance will be entitled to the following number of ballots:

New subscriber paid in advance one month, 100 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance two months, 250 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance six
months, 900 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance one
year, 2,000 votes.

Each new subscriber who pays in advance and casts the number of votes specified is also entitled, of course, to cut coupons from the paper from day to day and vote in the regular manner.

No person will be allowed extra votes for stopping his paper and having it sent to another name at the same address.

In every instance they must be bona fide new subscribers.

No person will be allowed to stop his paper on Monday and start it again
Tuesday and claim the premium offered.

No votes can be transferred from one candidate to another after being registered in this office.

Candidates must not be more than three years of age March 1, 1895, and must live in Janesville.

SILK AND SATIN
STRIPED

FRENCH ZEPHYRS.

42 pieces silk and satin striped French Zephyrs in all of the DAINY TINTS and COLORINGS, with threads of silk running through the weaves. The fact is, these goods are simply indescribable; they must be seen to be appreciated. And such a line, you would hardly expect to see such an assortment, even in a Chicago store; and here you have them right at your very door.

OUR . WASH . DRESS . GOODS . DEPARTMENT is now complete, and we can say without fear of contradiction that it is the largest, best assorted, contains more novelties than any other similar stock ever shown in Southern Wisconsin, and the best of all,

WE ARE CUTTING OUR PROFITS IN TWO.

and trusting to your good judgment to help us swell our sales.
